

Arran Reavley

I grew up in northwest London but my family stems from countryside villages of the northeast. I would frequently escape the noise of London to pay them a visit and have always been a country boy at heart.

Post education I trained as a Tennis Coach and was afforded an opportunity to coach at the prestigious Reeds school, bringing me to Surrey. While expanding my network of coaching I formed a working relationship with what would become my favourite venue – Dunsfold Tennis Club. I have served as their coach for many years teaching all ages with a particular focus on the juniors.

Dunsfold has always reminded me of the villages my family come from so when deciding on a new home to move to, there was no competition.

While I may be new to living here, I have been involved in the community for years. It didn't feel like moving to a new area, it felt like coming home.

When I'm not busy with coaching, I am spear-heading plans for the redevelopment of the KGV. We aim to further enhance the venues status in the community, making it a staple go-to for the whole family to enjoy.

I wish to join the Parish council to help keep Dunsfold a fantastic place to live. A place where children like my son can grow up, a place where someone would want to settle down and a place that sets an example of what village life can be.
